1. What is React?

a) A JavaScript library for building user interfaces
b) A back-end framework
c) A database management system
d) A programming language 2. What is the extension of files used by React?

a) .jsx b) .react c) .js d) Both .jsx and .js

3. What is the name of the object that holds component data in React?

a) state b) props c) context d) render

4. How are props passed to a component in React?

a) Through a function call

b) As an argument to the component

c) Through a Redux store

d) None of the above

5. What is the lifecycle method used in React classes for updating the DOM?

a) componentDidMount b) componentWillUpdate

c) render d) componentDidUpdate

6. What is the purpose of the keys in React?

a) To uniquely identify elements in a list

b) To add authentication to components

c) To style components

d) None of the above

7. What is the declarative approach in React? a) Telling React what to do b) Allowing React to handle the DOM updates c) Both a and b d) None of the above

8. What is the purpose of the React.Fragment component? a) To create a new component b) To render multiple elements without a parent node c) To handle events d) None of the above

9. What is the use of React.memo function? a) To memoize a component's render method b) To create a new component c) To handle events d) None of the above

10 . What is the purpose of the useEffect hook in React? a) To perform side effects in functional components b) To create a new component c) To handle events d) None of the above